

IDGS 911 : PhD Research & Thesis

The research and thesis component of the PhD is the core component for the degree of PhD. this is a student devised and driven research project that is expected to provide original input into an area chosen by the candidate.

Core Course