

IDGS 913 : MSc Research and Thesis

The research and thesis component of the MSc is a substantial component of the MSc degree. This is a student devised and driven research project that is expected to provide original input, or confirm established data, in an area chosen by the candidate.

Core Course

Credits 10