

The Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee

The Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee has been inaugurated at the School of Veterinary Medicine to establish guidelines and regulate the care and use of animals in research and education, ensuring safe, ethical, and humane treatment of all animals owned by or entrusted to the University. The University veterinarian has the responsibility for the care of all animals owned by the University.