

Dual Degree Programs

Students applying to the dual degree programs must first meet the admission requirements for the appropriate phase of the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine program. Please refer to the respective programs for details on admission requirements. For graduate programs, in addition to the professional application, applicants must submit the graduate addendum insert that accompanies the application. Once a candidate is offered admission into the professional program, the Faculty Student Selection Committee (FSSC) will evaluate the potential for success in the dual degree program, and render an admission decision based on the information provided. Students applying to the BS/DVM program will be reviewed for eligibility and additional course requirements that may be mandated based on academic background.