

Class Attendance

Students are expected to attend all classes and other related academic activities such as labs, small group discussions, online courses/activities, and field trips, as defined in all courses. Faculty members may take class attendance and participation into account when determining grades, provided that a clear written statement on this aspect of the course and its impact on grading is described in the course syllabus, which is distributed in class at the beginning of each term.