

PTHB 506 : Pathology I

Pathology I serves as an introduction to the discipline and service of veterinary pathology. Through a series of didactic lectures and interactive laboratory sessions, students will learn the fundamental mechanisms of tissue injury and disease (General Pathology). Students will then continue the study of veterinary disease with a systematic approach focused on individual organ systems and their respective diseases (Systems Pathology).

Core Course

Credits 4