

BUSI 894 : Modern Org Theory & Design

This course examines the theory and effective design of an organization to achieve strategic objectives in today's complex environment. Through case studies and metaphors, students examine alternative organizational structures and are encouraged to generate a range of complementary and competing insights about the nature of organizations and how they can be designed, managed, and evolved to assure high performance. Linkages with participant's national and regional cultural context are made.

Core Course