

PSYC 890 : Supervised Practicum P/ment

The Practicum Placement is designed to support both the skills and abilities the practicum student possesses and to challenge the student's awareness of self and how it impacts the therapeutic process. The practicum experience is a time for clinical skills to be integrated with conceptual/theoretical knowledge. This involves developing a sense of one's personal style, and blending that style with the counseling process and with the skills of assessment and conceptualization.
