

BUSI 893 : Intl Managerial Finance

This course provides an introduction to the theory, methods, and the concerns of corporate finance. It examines the time value of money and capital budgeting techniques; uncertainty and the trade-off between risk and return; security market efficiency; optimal capital structure, dividend policy decisions. This course also analyzes financial problems corporations face that result from operating in an international environment, especially those informing corporate strategy and the decision to invest abroad.

Core Course