

BIOL 421 : Capstone II

This capstone course will allow students to implement an independent enquiry-based research project where students apply the knowledge and skills acquired throughout their program, while being mentored by a faculty member. Students will be tasked with executing the research proposal developed in capstone I, collecting and analyzing data, and presenting a written, oral and poster presentation to a committee.

Core Course