

COMP 302 : Computer Ethics

This course provides students with an understanding of computer ethics. The topics include defining computer ethics, privacy and private information, security and confidentiality in communications, censorship, speech issues, intellectual property, computer crime, computers in the workplace, and professional ethics and responsibilities.

Core Course