COMP 415 : Mgmt Support Systems

This course relates to the use of information Technology to support management in the decision-making process. Furthermore, it focuses on Recognizing Types of decision support, the use of big data for decision support, analytics, and business intelligence.
Core Course