

ECON 202 : Macroeconomics

This course aims to give students a basic understanding of the organization, structure, and workings of the macro-economy. In this course, the fundamental concepts required for economic analysis are developed and used to analyze problems and issues of a specific nature.

Core Course