ENGL 002 : Foundation English

This course is designed to teach students how to write clearly and effectively in Standard English; the ability to read and write clearly and correctly is a skill that will help students in their careers and personal lives. In this course, students will work on the writing process and use prewriting, writing, and revising techniques. Students will become familiar with the standards of grammar, usage, and punctuation. They will develop the ability to understand printed material so as to develop the learning base for more advanced English courses.
