

Faculty Advisor-Advisee Program

All matriculated graduate students are assigned an academic advisor as described within each of the different graduate degree programs to guide and facilitate their academic program. The advisor plays an important role at the time of academic promotion and in the appeals process described later. The views of advisors and their interview summaries are filed with the Dean of Students for future reference (for example, Dean's Letters).