

Background and Purpose

A regular and documented assessment of faculty is both desirable for maintenance of faculty quality and overall educational experience, and is a requirement of current accreditation standards: