

ACCT 204 : Financial Accounting

This course offers an introduction to the basic principles underlying the logic of accounting. Students will undertake an analysis of business transactions and preparation of financial statements. The purpose and function of financial reporting and its impact on various users, such as management, owners, creditors, and other external users, will be examined.

Core Course